FOUR GO OVER WALL AT OSR, ONE CAUGHT

Three Still at Large After Sliding Down Rope; Reports Say One Man Wounded.

Three of four inmates of the Ohio State reformatory who went over the institution's west wall with the aid of a rope at 9:30 a. m. today were still at large at noon. The fourth, Charles Leftwich, 20, was captured by guards near the Barnes Manufacturing company on North Main street.

Reformatory Supt. Arthur L. Glattke reported the break and said a posse of "about a dozen" reformatory guards was scouring the neighborhood of the reformatory soon after the men disappeared in fields of tall weeds west of the institution.

Glattke's secretary, shortly before noon, said more guards had been ordered out in an effort to capture the three inmates still at large, all convicted burglars.

* * *

Reported Shot.

Glattke could not confirm rumors that one of the fugitives had been shot in the chase, although Mansfield police said E. C. Skeese of the Barnes Manufacturing company had informed them one of the men was wounded. The police department immediately dispatched a cruiser to the scene of Leftwich's capture, officers said.

"Maybe one of the inmates was shot or shot at, but it wasn't the one we've apprehended so I can't say definitely whether one was wounded," Glattke reported.

* * *

Slide Down Rope.

The inmates made their break for freedom while working on the roof of a guard tower in the west wall, Glattke reported.

"The attention of a new guard there, William Wise, was distracted for a short time and the inmates went over the wall by sliding down a rope which was being used to haul up tools and materials for the roof repair job," Glattke said.

The men immediately disappeared in the tall weeds in fields across the Erie railroad tracks, the superintendent said. The posse was soon assembled and a radio alarm broadcast, Glattke stated.

Leftwich was apprehended only 15 or 20 minutes after the break occurred. He was "wringing wet" when he was brought in and it is believed the other three fugitives are heading westward up the bed of one of the streams in the northern part of the city.

Still at large are Leonard Evans, 23, of Cuyahoga county, Harold Romine, 23, of Stark county, and Charles Pierson, 20, of Summit county. All were serving terms of one to 15 years for burglary. Evans was received Aug. 14, 1945, Romine on April 10, 1946, and Pierson last July 3.

Leftwich was received from Franklin county as a juvenile delinquent Oct. 20, 1943. He had been convicted of unarmed robbery.

Wise, 54, had been appointed a reformatory guard Aug. 19 of this year. He lives on Olivesburg road.

Tries To Flee County Jail

An attempted break at the county jail was made yesterday by Henry Litteral, 30, who tried to sneak by Deputy Sheriff Harold Marvin as he was releasing Jack Lewis, 76, another prisoner, Sheriff Frank Robinson said.

Marvin grabbed Litteral and shoved him back inside the heavy jail door. Sheriff Robinson said he plans to ask the county commissioners for the installation of a cage at the jail entrance as a precautionary measure.

Pupils In County's Rural, St. Peter's Schools Put Away Their Summer Play as Classes Resume For Six Thousand

Dries Tears of Boys And Girls Lonely For Their Moms'

By NITA BRANSON

Just so the first day of school at St. Peter's parochial wouldn't go along too smoothly, 34 five-year-olds made things hum in the kindergarten this morning.

For most of the 34, it was a day of happy anticipation and the opening of a whole new world of playmates, fun and learning.

For a few, however, it began as a day of "tragedy." For those few, it was the first time they'd been separated from "Mother." How could one expect a five-year-old to be cheerful when his best friend walked out the door and left him under the care of a strange teacher?

* * *

Equal to Occasion.

That teacher, Sister Giovanni, was more than equal to the occasion. Tears were miraculously dried, little hands were soon busy with blocks and wonderful new toys and colored crayons. A teacher must be a diplomat to ease the sorrow of a lonesome five-year-old away from home for the first time. Sister Giovanni proved an adequate diplomat.

That kindergarten at St. Peter's is a beautiful place. Flowered curtains hang from its sunny windows; open-faced bookcases line the walls; small functional tables stand ready for drawing; rockers to fit small backs are placed just right for a moment of dawdling.

Six five-year-olds at St. Peter's parochial kindergarten got their first lesson in keeping quiet while they "looked at the birdie" for the News-Journal cameraman this morning. At the end of the table is young Teddy Glattke. The three little girls next to him are Lenore Minak, Beverly Ditchinger and Patricia Ann Lannan. At the right, Marty Peter Osmond gets ready to take off on his scooter while behind the three girls is Gerald Rizzo, who chose a hobby horse on wheels for his method of transportation.

"The first day is always like this," said Sister Giovanni while attempting to quiet a tearful youngster. "By tomorrow every one will have settled down to peace and quiet."

* * *

More First Graders.

First graders were also finding the going a bit unusual. This year there are 81 six-year-olds as compared to a first grade enrollment last year of 65 pupils.

In the elementary grades there were 644 pupils while 212 registered today for St. Peter's high school. This year's staff of teachers had been increased over last year's number by seven, making a total of 23 teachers in the kindergarten, grade and high schools.

Sister De Chantal, superintendent of St. Peter's parochial schools, was busy this morning checking lists of pupils and talking to mothers with small sons and daughters.

"Here in my office," she declared, "things have gone with unusual smoothness this morning. We can't," she added laughing, "hear the noise from the kindergarten."

New Term In City To Start Tomorrow For 6,500

By MARGUERITE MILLER

Another year of school began today for about 5,000 Richland county rural pupils as vacation-silenced bells rang again in the 11 county school districts.

It was also the first day of school for pupils of St. Peter's Parochial school in Mansfield. Mansfield public school pupils will report for classes tomorrow.

Boyd Robinson, county school superintendent, said today that three vacancies were still unfilled in the county schools. Two of these are at Shiloh, where a commercial and a physical education instructor are needed, and the other is at Bellville where a physical education teacher is also needed.

* * *

Fill One Vacancy.

Another vacancy was filled over the holiday weekend when Dorothy Moore of Berwyn, Ill., arrived in the city last night and was hired to teach Latin and English at Shiloh.

The days of the "little red school houses" still haven't passed from the Richland county scene. Today, 17 one-room schools in Mifflin, Sharon, Madison and Union townships opened their doors for another session, the county superintendent's office reported. Classes in the county schools were to be held until noon today with regular morning and afternoon classes scheduled tomorrow.

City Acts Tonight On Trash

City council is scheduled to take the first step tonight toward improving Mansfield's garbage-ash collection service.

City Solicitor Leslie K. Wagner said today a bill will be presented authorizing Service-Safety Director William W. Enlow to purchase two new ash trucks and one new garbage truck for a total cost of $9,500.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn has recommended, through a letter to Clifford Knarr, council's sewer-garbage committee chairman, that new trucks be purchased.

Vaughn's letter to Knarr also recommended that the city's garbage collection fee be raised.

* * *

Request Not Received.

Wagner said, however, that he has received no request for legislation which would boost the collection fee above the present $7.20-a-year level. Sanitation Supt. Al Strachan has reported that it costs the city about $10.78 to provide collection service.

The new ash trucks would replace two 1930-model trucks which Vaughn says have been delaying service because they are continually needing repairs. With the new ash trucks, the city would have four late-model trucks for garbage service.

* * *

Subsidy Planned.

Wagner also said legislation is being prepared for appropriation of $9,500 from the general fund to subsidize the in-the-red garbage department for the balance of the year. The money will go for labor costs, he said.

Last year the department went some $11,000 in the red.

Also up for consideration will be an ordinance appropriating approximately $24,700 for city employe salary increases granted in June and for salaries of new employes authorized since the first of the year.

Other legislation would authorize the hiring of an architect to draw plans for a new No. 4 fire station on Newman street to replace the present building and to draw plans for a new No. 5 station on Marion avenue.

24 OHIOANS DIE, 11 AS TRAINS STRIKE AUTOS

Nation's Traffic Mishaps Kill 322 Persons; 77 Drown.

FROM N-J WIRE SERVICES

America's accidental holiday death total mounted today, far above the 350 forecast by the National Safety council.

At least 426 persons met violent death during the week-end. Traffic accidents accounted for at least 322 deaths, well above the 210 predicted by the council. The nation's millions of old and worn cars—more than half of them over eight years old—were blamed for the mounting fatalities.

Thirty-three died in drownings, and 77 other persons died in miscellaneous accidents.

Ohio counted 24 traffic fatalities. Unseasonably cool weather kept Ohio holiday throngs from swimming pools and only one drowning was reported. The body of a man identified as John A. Starts was taken from the Scioto river at Columbus.

Eleven persons were killed in three auto-train accidents, four at Huron, O., five at Dayton and two at Marion.

* * *

Train Kills Five.

A New York Central train early today struck an automobile at a crossing and killed five Dayton negroes. They were identified as Mrs. Cora Fritz, 36; Duanna Knaff, 34; Virginia Johnson, 20; Robert Brown, 21, and Mary Belcher, 18.

Four Wheeling, W. Va., persons were killed in the Huron accident. Returning from a fishing trip, their auto was struck on U. S. Route 50 by a New York Central train. They were Frank Roth, 48, and his wife, 39, and Harris Lydrick, 50, and his wife, 45.

Maurice Burnett, jr., 24, and his wife, Jane, 23, were killed in the crash of their automobile and a Pennsylvania freight near Marion.

* * *

Grid Player Killed.

Late Ohio deaths, added to the toll which started to mount Friday night, included those of Wilbert Riblet, 19, Defiance, killed when an auto struck a pole; Charles Tice, Hillsboro, who died in a two-car collision, and 15-year-old Eldon Dicke, who died of injuries suffered when an auto knocked him from his bike near his Lima home.

Mrs. Ruth Valentine, 49, Sebring, was fatally injured in a two-car head-on collision west of Wellsville.

Train Runs Over Foot; Toes Intact

AKRON—(INS)—A 15-year-old Akron high school student, Paul Clarke, knew today the feeling of having a train run over his foot—and not lose a toe.

The youth was racing a train to a crossing yesterday and stumbled and fell across the track. The locomotive wheel passed over his right foot.

City hospital doctors said that, thanks to the heavy, high-laced shoes Paul was wearing at the time, a plastic operation performed last night would save his toes.

CHILL TO STAY

Forecaster Sees Cool Days Rest of Week.

Already short-changed on its summer, Mansfield today saw the season continue to slip away as the weatherman predicted continued "below normal" temperatures for the next five days.

While the mercury here slipped to the 40-degree mark early this morning, temperatures dropped to near-freezing levels in other places in Ohio. Archbold and East Liverpool recorded lows of 36 degrees and Zanesville shivered with a minimum of 38.

Forecasters, despite a prediction that tomorrow would be slightly warmer, said that the danger of frost in central Ohio will remain a possibility from now on. They said showers are probable Thursday or Friday.

Return of Dairy Price Ceilings Under Study

WASHINGTON—(INS)—A spokesman for the price decontrol board said today that board members would meet tomorrow to study the dairy price situation.

If the three members decided that dairy prices have risen unreasonably since Aug. 20, they may order the restoration of ceilings on milk, butter and other dairy items.

In deciding Aug. 20 to allow dairy products to remain free of control, the board warned that it would watch for any upward trend in dairy prices and reimpose ceilings if prices rose unreasonably.

Since that time, the board has collected data on dairy prices which Price Administrator Paul Porter has declared he wants back under price control.

OPA announced that the retail prices of shoes made of kid and goat leather would rise about four or five per cent. OPA said kid and goat leather footwear account for only about 10 per cent of the total shoe production in the country.

The price agency said that men's all-kid or all-goat leather shoes now selling for about $5.95 per pair would go up approximately 30 cents as a result of its action. Women's kid dress shoes will jump around 21 cents for a closed toe model and 10 to 12 cents a pair for the sandal-type shoe.

OPA also announced an average increase of 10 per cent in producers' prices of low-cost wool fabrics.

ALL-TIME HIGH

Bank Clearings in Month Hit $15,000,000.

A new all-time high in Mansfield's bank clearings was recorded last month when they totaled $15,034,682, an increase of $462,287 for July, Russell McCullough, secretary of the Mansfield Clearing house association, reported today.

The previous high was set in July when the city's banks handled a total of $14,572,395.

The August clearings brought to $109,942,481 the total so far in 1946. This compares with a cumulative total of only $91,212,240 in a comparable period of 1945 and isn't far short of the clearings of $119,178,644 for the entire year of 1944.

The record August figure compares with that of $11,712,535 in August a year ago, $10,681,054 in the same month of 1944, and $6,032,154 in August of 1938.

297,500 LIMIT SET FOR ITALY

Action Taken to Trim Size of Post-War Army.

PARIS—(AP)—"Big Four" recommendations that the Italian army, navy and airforce be limited to 297,500 men—only a fraction of war-time strength—were approved unanimously today by the military commission of the 21-nation peace conference.

Under the approved provisions, Italy is permitted to have an army of 250,000 (including 65,000 carabinieri), a navy of 22,500 and an airforce of 25,000.

She is barred from possession of aircraft carriers and her land airforce is restricted to 200 fighter and reconnaissance planes with an additional 150 transport and training planes.

The military commission accepted the foreign ministers' draft setting the strength of the carabinieri (state police) at 65,000.

Approval of "Big Four" recommendations to limit the Italian fleet to two battleships, four cruisers and four destroyers and restrictions on other smaller warcraft was delayed pending study of a French amendment to qualify the wording of the treaty.

The French proposal did not seek to change the number of ships.

Meanwhile Yugoslavia accused the Italian delegation of using "fraudulent tactics" in seeking control of Trieste. A Yugoslav spokesman opened up what promised to be a bitter battle for jurisdiction over the key Adriatic port by attacking the personal integrity of Ivanoe Bonomi, former premier of Italy.

Bonomi had asked the Italian political and territorial commission to extend the free territory of Trieste southward along the Istrian coast to include Italian-populated towns if these localities could not be left to Italy.

Trucker's Strike Halts N. Y. Food

The note asked the United States to "reply what it had undertaken to put an end to unauthorized and deliberate flights over Yugoslav territory on the part of American military and civilian planes and what guarantees it can give that this will not be repeated."

The note said that no "necessary or satisfactory reply" had been received to Yugoslav notes delivered to the United States on Aug. 10 and 19.

Waitress Held In Fatal Shooting

COLUMBUS —(INS)— A 22-year-old Columbus waitress was held on a manslaughter charge today as the result of the fatal "mistake" shooting of her employer Saturday night.

Police said the victim, John Kollas, 61, was involved in a scuffle with a patron of the restaurant, Rubin West, 30, of Urbancrest. According to witnesses, Kollas tossed a revolver to the waitress, Virginia Music.

The girl said she fired one shot, intending to hit West. Instead, the bullet struck Kollas in the chest and he died shortly afterward.

Charges of cutting to kill were filed against West. Police stated that he cut Kollas on the neck and head before the shooting.

U. S. Told to 'Mind Own Business' As Russia Rejects Trade Protest

MOSCOW—(AP)—Russia has rejected American expression of concern relative to bilateral Soviet-Swedish trade negotiations in a note in which the official Russian news agency said the United States was told, in effect, to mind its own business.

Tass, the Russian news agency, in announcing the rejection, quoted the note of rejection as saying that the "Soviet government—and it may be assumed the government of Sweden—are not in need of consultation with the United States government on the question of the advantage or disadvantage they will reap from trade agreements."

(Sweden, in effect, rejected the U. S. note—in which the hope was expressed that Russia would not undertake any obligations in conflict with principles expressed in a mutual aid agreement concluded between the United States and Russia in 1942. The Swedish foreign office announced last Saturday that a Swedish delegation would leave for Moscow tomorrow to resume negotiations on a proposed five-year agreement with Russia.)

Tass, stating that its information was based on data received from the Soviet foreign ministry, stated in the Moscow broadcast: "The government of the U. S. S. R., the note observes, is the more astonished at the contents of the American government's note, considering that the government of the United States itself is in the habit of concluding long-term bilateral credit trade agreements with other countries on supplying them directly or through the Export-Import bank with long-term credits for the purchase of American goods.

"In this connection, the United States government's interpretation of the proposed trade agreement between the U. S. S. R. and Sweden could be understood only in trade negotiations between two independent states."

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

To live one has to learn, and fast. For those too slow life will not last.

—Old Mother Nature.

* * *

Little Wobblenose, grandson of Peter Rabbit, had really learned the first and most important lesson in living that little Rabbits and all other little folks who want to live to be big folks must learn. Do you know what it was? It was that while thinking he knew all there was to know about the Great World he really knew almost nothing. While he thought he knew so much he could learn little because he didn't think there was anything to learn. Now that he had begun to think that he knew almost nothing he could and would learn fast.

"The wonder is that I am alive," thought he as he sat in a bramble-tangle far back in the Old Pasture. It was a wonder. "I guess living isn't as simple as I thought it was. I wasn't afraid, not really afraid, often, and now I am afraid most of the time excepting when I am in here. I am even beginning to wonder if this place is as safe as it seems. If I can get in here why can't others?"

Others could get in there and did as he soon found out, but they were folks no bigger than himself or not as big. They were friendly folk who sometimes came there because they felt safe there, too. One of these was a young Grouse who had come over into the Old Pasture from the Green Forest and had become separated from his mother and brothers and sisters. He had crept in under the tangle of brambles and briars not knowing that any one else was there.

Little Wobblenose had watched him creeping in and at first had been frightened. Then he had seen the worried look in the eyes of the young Grouse and at once had known that his visitor was not one to be feared. "Hello!" said the little Rabbit.

The young Grouse looked startled and drew back a little. "Oh!" he exclaimed. "I-I-I didn't know any one was here. Do you live here?"

"Yes," said the little Rabbit. I live here. This is my home." He hadn't thought of it as being his home until that very minute, but having said it he knew that it was so. It was just as if he had planned it all along

"I hope you don't mind if I rest here a little while," said the young Grouse.

"Not at all," replied Little Wobblenose. "Do you live around here?"

"No," replied the young Grouse. "I live in the Green Forest. I am a stranger here. I am sort of lost, if you know what I mean."

The little Rabbit started to say that he was a stranger there himself, then remembered that this was his home. How could he be a stranger in his own home? Instead he asked a question. "How do you happen to be lost?" he wanted to know.

"It was a Hawk; he tried to catch one of us. I flew one way and they flew another way. I've been looking for them ever since," explained the young Grouse.

"Who are they?" asked Little Wobblenose wonderingly.

"My mother and brothers and sisters. We've never been separated for so long before," said his visitor. "The Great World is a dreadful place to be out in alone, isn't it?" he added.

"Hello!" said the little Rabbit.

"I've been out in it alone almost since I can remember," replied the little Rabbit and suddenly felt quite big and grown-up.

"You have?' What happened to your brothers and sisters? You had brothers and sisters, didn't you?" cried the young Grouse.

"Yes," replied the little Rabbit, "but how should I know what happened to them? I suppose they are somewhere out in the Great World. We all started out, each for himself, almost as soon as we could run about. I haven't seen one of them since."

"Where was your mother?" Had something happened to her?" Asked the young Grouse, staring at Little Wobblenose as if finding it hard to believe what he had just heard. "Our family sticks together," he added.

"But you became unstuck," said the little Rabbit, and the young Grouse nodded sadly.

The next story: "Each to His Own Way."

SOME GOODLY proportion of the unusually favorable scores by good players will always come from ability to grasp an opportunity granted by acts of their opponents. They not only accept the direct benefit of such gifts, but proceed to magnify the value of them by carving out extra dividends through skillful use of the presents. In brief, they then illustrate that cashing in to the maximum on chances offered makes their plus scores bigger, while their own refraining from too many slips keeps down the size of their minus totals.

West made a sound enough opening lead with this diamond K, but then, when he should have switched to his fourth-best spade, he scored his diamond A to set up the Q, which then won the third diamond lead of the 4 to the J.

Now was the time for a good player to go after the maximum result in the duplicate. Edwin N. Moore, astute cardsman of New York's Union League Club, did exactly that. He finessed the club 10, returned to his hand with a heart, finessed the club Q, scored his last two heart tops, and led to the club A to drop the K. Since the hearts had not divided evenly, he had built a squeeze position by discarding a spade on the third diamond.

He retained his own three spades and the diamond 8, and in the dummy the spare A-10 and the important heart 7, in addition to the club 7, which he now laid down. If East had discarded the heart 10, the 7 would have become good. So he tossed the spade 5, and the diamond was then shed by South to retain his three spades. The spade A and K then dropped the Q and J, whereupon the spade 8 was set up for the final trick. Thus Mr. Moore got a nice top with five-odd made.

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

Can you figure out the beautiful combat at the end of South's 3-No Trumps play after the diamond Q and club K won and the 9 is returned to the J?

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennett Cerf

A FAMOUS producer bought a ranch that he proposed to use as a haven to get away from it all. His wife, however, had different ideas and invited at least 30 people down for every weekend.

The producer walked in on one typical brawl and heard his wife bemoaning the fact that she hadn't yet thought of an appropriate name for the ranch. He looked over the assemblage of guests with distaste and cried, "I've got it. 'Bar None.'"

* * *

"By you is trouble, Mrs. Kugel?" inquired a friend. "You look terrible!"

"Yah, yah," sighed Mrs. Kugel. "My husband, Mosha, is always sick."

"Mosha is just a hypercondit," said her friend. "He ain't sick. He just thinks he's sick. Ignore his complaints and watch him get well."

The two met again a month later. Mrs. Kugel looked even more woebegone. "Mosha is no better?" asked the friend.

"Worse," said Mrs. Kugel. "He thinks he's dead."

POLICE CHIEF MAPS SHELBY SAFETY DRIVE

Coffey Sets Up Three-Point Program to Protect School Children.

SHELBY—Police Chief Leroy E. Coffey today had outlined three important steps which he hopes to enforce in a proposed traffic campaign to combat increased hazards which come with the opening of school.

These steps have been taken to safeguard the lives of school children as well as citizens of the communuity. Chief Coffey hopes to close the school year without any serious accidents either to school children or Shelby residents.

The three steps include the erection of 24-hour corporation and speed limit signs at the main routes entering the city.

Another measure to limit speed on city streets is the installation of three additional traffic lights at danger points. Crosswalks are being painted at each of the new lights and are being repainted at other intersections.

Additional precautions include erection of four-way stop signs at the intersection of Second and Whitney, Sharon and Raymond and West and Raymond avenues in the school zones.

Newly-painted school-boy "Go Slow" signs will be placed at the schools to warn motorists.

THE CITY FATHERS of Lithopolis, O., which boasts 288 residents, are planning just how to spend the $2,500,000 left by Mrs. Mabel Wagnall Jones to make the "richest village" a community memorial to her father, the late Adam Wagnalls. Twenty years ago, Mrs. Jones gave the town a $500,000 community center with a library, dining hall and auditorium. At left, above, is Sam Leyndecker, 72, who made town history when stone from his quarry won first prize at the St. Louis World's Fair. At right, on bikes, are town youngsters who will get the benefits of the huge bequest, which has been left to build a living memorial.

Crestline Couples Exchanges Vows In Church Ceremony

CRESTLINE—In a candlelight ceremony before the altar of First English Lutheran church Thursday at 8 p. m., Miss Carolyn Magers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Magers of southeast of Crestline, became the bride of Herbert Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jackson, sr., North Seltzer street. Rev. S. A. Metzger officiated, using the double ring ceremony. The custom of open church was observed.

Miss Doris Rauch of Mansfield, soloist, and Mrs. S. A. Metzger, organist, presented a half hour program of nuptial music preceding the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of sheer white taffeta made with a yoke which dropped over the shoulders. Attached to the fitted bodice the full skirt was draped in front showing a godet of lace ruffles and fell into a long train at the back. Her fingertip veil was of silk illusion and she carried white rose buds and white gardenias.

A cousin of the bride, Mrs. Herbert Eichorn of Galion was matron of honor and she wore a California pink gown of silk jersey. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Donald Beck and Miss Marlyn Oliphant, wore identical gowns in sheer marquisette with taffeta tops in the same shade of pink as that of the matron of honor. Their bouquets were of pink rose buds and purple asters tied with pink ribbons. Velvet roses of pink were worn by the attendants for their headdresses.

Serving the groom as best man was Donald Beck and twin cousins of the bride, Byron and Blair Musselman of Galion were ushers.

The bride's mother wore a fuchsia color dress and the groom's mother wore a black dress with sequin trim.

A reception for 135 guests was held in the home of the bride's parents.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of Crestline high school. The bride also graduated from Tiffin university and recently resigned her position as stenographer at the Westinghouse Electric company in Mansfield.

The bridegroom had been employed at the Shelby Air depot, following his discharge after three years of service.

They are now on a wedding trip which will take them through the eastern states. They will reside in Springfield where they will attend Wittenberg college.

Judge Finds Picking Winners Hard Task In New London Show

NEW LONDON — The second annual Horse Show, sponsored by the New London Riding and Driving club, attracted thousands of persons, besides 122 entries in 14 events at the New London Recreation Center Sunday afternoon. Entries were present from Bucyrus, Mansfield, Ashland, Sandusky, Norwalk and many other cities in Ohio.

Prof. J. P. McCann, of the animal husbandry department of Ohio State university, presided as official judge, Charles Masters of Ashland, ringmaster, Henry Heddon, New London, the ring clerk, and Bob Eddy, Wooster, announcer.

Judge McCann declared that this was the finest group of horses he had judged for some time. In several instances, he was hard put to pick the winner. Especially was this true in the palamino class of ten horses. Judge McCann declared these were the finest he has ever seen.

Relieving the serious part of the program, Miss Marjorie Miller of Wooster presented her educated high school horse in a number of fine tricks. Later during the program, a pair of white mules, hitched to a small rubber tired wagon, trotted up to the judges stand, preceded by a pair of tiny twin girls mounted on a small black pony. Dismounting, the girls each was given a huge section of watermelon which they ate while the driver of the wagon "transacted business" at the judges' stand.

Jack Lait . On Broadway

THE POPULARITY of "Annie Get Your Gun," a musical around a free adaptation of the life of Annie Oakley, the sharpshooter who was internationally known because of her appearances with Buffalo Bill's Wild West shows, recalls perhaps the most famous libel yarn in American newspaper history.

I chanced to be in Chicago's old Harrison Street police court on another case, when an old, soiled, obviously coked-up cow-girl, in the wardrobe of that type of performer, was brought in, charged with an indescribably sordid misdemeanor.

Asked her name, she answered, "Annie Oakley."

Police Judge Prindiville leaned forward. He asked her to repeat that.

"Annie Oakley," she said.

"You—mean you are THE Annie Oakley?"

"Yes — I am Buffalo Bill's daughter-in-law. I must have gone crazy. I was on the dope. I'm sorry."

* * *

Prindiville, after a dissertation on the pity of it all—that a woman so famous, so successful, should have fallen so far—fined her $10 or so, which she paid. Before any reporter could catch her, she disappeared.

* * *

It was a Page One sensation. Annie Oakley had retired and nothing had been heard of her in several years.

Linotypes clacked, telegraph instruments clicked, cuts of the rifle-woman were hastily blocked and put into forms.

I had an impression, however, that Annie Oakley was never Buffalo Bill's daughter-in-law.

* * *

I telehoned our city editor, Arthur L. Clarke, and pointed this out to him. I wasn't sure—I simply felt that, had Col. Bill Cody had a son who married Annie Oakley, I would have known of it. Clarke, who had started me in the business, ordered the story held, though we were near the deadline. I had not written or reported it. Another man was covering the court; I chanced to be there on an angle of a running assignment. Clarke hastily telephoned to a man who had once been the advance agent for Buffalo Bill; he said Annie was no daughter-in-law, and, moreover, she was a fine Christian woman.

* * *

Clarke changed the lead from "Annie Oakley, world-famous rifle-shot, today was convicted . . . etc," to read, "A woman claiming to be Annie Oakley . . . etc., today—was convicted—"

Next day there was panic and pandemonium in almost every newspaper in the land—but not ours.

Annie Oakley had turned up, living in Nutley, N. J., a respected and respectable lady, who hadn't been in Chicago in months.

Retractions were of little use. Annie Oakley started suing and made a postcript career of it. Most of the newspapers settled.

But, by saying, "A woman who claimed to be Annie Oakley—" we were safe. We had reported the exact facts. The prisoner, under oath, had said she was Annie Oakley.

I was awarded a bonus for being wide awake.

And it taught me to be on the lookout for impersonators.

Pegler . Fair Enough

NEW YORK—Elliott Roosevelt has composed a book entitled "As He Saw It," described by Look magazine, which is publishing a four-part concentrate, as "the inside story of the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin war meetings."

The propriety of the whole enterprise will meet no challenge from those who, naturally or from the long process of contamination, regard the presidency of the United States as a gravy train for the incumbent and his family. A year ago, in testimony before examiners of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, Elliott revealed that he was very hard up. The book and the serial rights will relieve this condition. The material is a by-product of his father's office which his father foresightedly threw his way by inviting him to historic conferences which all concerned were shrewd enough to recognize as a source of future fortune.

Inasmuch as these unsupported tattlings, sold commercially, constitute a plea in glorification of the late president and an equally unpleasant description of Winston Churchill and will be consulted by historians, they should be accompanied by footnotes and exceptions.

Look observes in an editorial note that Elliott "has had his name tossed about on the floor of the U. S. Senate (subject: His Army Promotion.) That is an incomplete reference. His name was "tossed about" in the house of representatives, too, and the ways and means committee made a miserably evasive investigation of the loan of $200,000 from John Hartford, which his father helped to promote and finally settled for two cents on the dollar.

The article here considered contains much matter in direct quote. I find no statement that these remarks are taken from a stenographic record. If they are, the questions reasonably arise whether the record was taken with Churchill's knowledge or, being a historical document and the property of the American people, they were made available exclusively to Elliott to sell for private profit. In the absence of proof that the quotations are exact they are subject to the usual doubt. Even the best reporters, who practice for years, cannot remember exactly what two or more persons say in conversation. As an experiment you might try it for ten minutes, using a stenographer to record the blurts, the half-sentences and asides.

Naturally, Elliott depicts his father as the hero of the meetings and Churchill as his inferior. Churchill, always a prolific potboiler in the journalism of this country and his own, deserves the courtesy and justice of an invitation to reply, at his regular rate.

* * *

We read under Elliott's name that Churchill "was beginning to look apopletic," that he "began heavily" a remark about British empire trade agreements and, in another page, that "he growled". These are the interpretations of a hostile observer.

When we find Elliott reporting that, after a night conference which revealed Churchill "in fine form," a whole bottle of brandy had been emptied, we must analyze the passage for explicit language. We find no statement that Churchill, alone, had drunk the whole bottle of brandy, but a remark that "if anything, his mind seemed to work more clearly, his tongue more easily."

(For Hal Boyle)

JERUSALEM — (AP) — Beneath the sound and fury of Palestine's potlitico-racial miseries, one thing is often forgotten: Palestine is a land where people live, love, labor and listen to music.

The world has a Palestine Problem because the Jews and Arabs have religious and racial affinities that transcend national boundaries. But Palestinians are people and they have problems, too.

They go to work in the morning, have tea in the afternoon and go to the movies at night. They hear symphony music and opera, they go dancing and gather in taverns, sometimes they get drunk, they haggle with the butcher and miss buses.

Palestine is a little orphan country waiting for its powerful uncles to decide its destiny. But its peoples' lives go on.

The land is a land of scenic beauty and healthful, sub-tropical climate. It has rock-crested mountains and verdant plains. Its scenic beauty is marred but little by the hundreds of miles of barbed wire entanglements. The sprawling military encampments and the thousands of military vehicles trundling over its winding roads.

* * *

Some call Palestine an armed camp. Some call it a battle ground. Some call it an incubator for World War III. All may be correct. Certainly there is tension underlying every social endeavor. There's restlessness and an expectancy everywhere. But it is no less true that Palestine is a land where soil is tilled and crops harvested and where people water their flowers and play bridge with the neighbors. And go to church and pray in the way of their faith.

* * *

Rifles rattle in the hands of British soldiers and Jewish terrorists, and every cocktail party is a political forum. But these are but brush strokes on the picture of Palestine.

Here are two ancient peoples and a British mandate government in which neither have a substantial voice. The Jews have their Jewish agency, and the Arabs their Arab executive, shadow governments whose shadows fall across the mandate.

Big power polemics in the world's other capitals cause stirrings among Palestine politicos. But what's said in London and Washington never changes the taste of grilled fish on the terrace by the Sea of Galilee nor stops the breakers on the Mediterranean beaches.

Some two dozen foreign newsmen, representing the world's big agencies and newspapers, live in Jerusalem's hotels and report news as it happens, glean bits and pieces of intelligence from government "handouts," and write deep "think pieces." They visit the homes of Arab and Jew and are plied with coffee, brandy and political persuasion.

Local newspapers in English, Hebrew and Arabic tell Palestine readers of the world's events that affect this country. They tell it with vitriolic comment and often with little regard for objectivity.

The British government scissors out the passages it contends might incite violence. The people read what's printed and read into it what they will—and then turn to a review of last night's performance of Brahm's fourth symphony by the Palestine orchestra, or scan a list of the movies, of British, American, French or Eygptian origin, playing in Haifa, Tel Aviv, Jaffa or Jerusalem.

Palestinians are Arabs who live in the desert and tend their flocks and play oriental pipe music. They are Jews who live on agricultural settlements and work in the soil and remember, many of them, days of Belsen and Buchenwald.

Palestinians are Jews who live in cities and practice law and medicine or operate shops and visit bookstores and talk of books in three, four or five languages. They are Arabs who live in cities and work at professions or trades and listen to radios and smoke water pipes.

Camels plod the streets of Jerusalem, an Arab rides a little donkey, a Jew leads a mule laden with goods. A horn honks and an Arab or a Jew drives past in a 1946 model automobile.

WANTS COUNTY TO MATCH FUNDS

Industrial Union Council Asks Additional Funds For Vet Housing.

The Richland County CIO Industrial council today asked county commissioners to match the $64,000 veterans housing fund set up by the state legislature to finance construction of home units for vets.

Under the state law, the county or its subdivisions are required only to contribute 15 per cent of the state allocation to qualify for the funds.

W. F. McCartney, president of the council, said today that the appeal had been mailed to the commissioners but that so far no response had been received.

Philip Wolfe, clerk of the board of county commissioners said today he hadn't seen the letter, but indicated that "if the commissioners have received it, it will be read in the regular meeting tomorrow morning."

The union also urged that a committee, "comprised of civic, church, veterans, labor and small business organizations be formed in an advisory capacity" for carrying out the housing program in the area.

"It is our firm belief," the letter stated," that it is necessary that this be done to insure that these funds are used only in construction of low-cost homes.

"We are also of the opinion that under these extraordinary days of stress in housing that the commissioners match the state allocation instead of the 15 per cent, indicated in newspaper reports."

Bierly Heads National 37th Division Veterans Association

Glenn L. Bierly, Mansfield World War I veteran of the 37th division and battalion commander of the Ohio State Guard, yesterday was elected president of the national 37th Division Veterans' association at Toledo.

Bierly's election to succeed Joseph Jeunker of Buffalo, N. Y., as head of the association was one of the closing events of the division's three-day reunion which also saw the naming of Mrs. Donald Leuthner, 103 South Willis avenue, to the executive committee of the Ladies of the 37th.

Bierly and Mrs. Leuthner were part of a delegation of some 40 Mansfielders who took part in the gathering of the 37th's veterans of both world wars. Bierly had been vice president of the association during the past year and a member of its executive committee for the past two years.

Mrs. Leuthner's husband is a World War I veteran, member of the old Company M in which Bierly served under Capt. A. L. Allen in the first World war.

Governor Frank J. Lausche, who was one of the main speakers at the reunion, announced that Brig. Gen. Leo M. Kreber, Columbus, is the new commander of the 37th which is to be reorganized as the Ohio National Guard. He succeeds Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler who led the division during the late war.

Resolutions adopted by the convention included one to change the name of State Route 3 from the "Three C's Highway" to the "37th Division Memorial Highway." The association also went on record in support of peacetime conscription and in favor of efforts to obtain a third battle star for the division from the War department for its fighting in the Pacific theater.

PARK SEASON NEARING END

Liberty Pool Closes Ahead of Schedule Because of Cool Weather.

Picnic facilities at Middle park will remain open "until bad weather sets in," Park Supt. Frank Burton said today. He added that crews will begin closing facilities at North Lake and South parks about the middle of this month.

He said that Liberty park swimming pool was closed Sunday. The pool had a bad season, he said, because two floods forced its temporary closing and cool weather recently has kept swimmers away. It usually closes Labor day.

Tennis courts will remain open as long as weather permits, Burton said. He said that about mid-September crews will begin gathering up equipment in all but Middle park.

Some 1,000 benches and 200 picnic tables will have to be picked up, sorted, repaired and then stored in buildings at North Lake and South parks.

LABOR COOLER TO GOVERNOR THAN IN 1944

September Survey Shows GOP Favored to Win Other State Offices.

By ROBERT VINCENT

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Ohio's first post-war election, just nine weeks from today, will pit an individual star against a smoothly-functioning vote-getting team.

The star is Gov. Frank J. Lausche, seeking a second term on the Democratic state ticket. Opposing him is the Republican team of former Gov. John W. Bricker, the two Herberts, State Treasurer Don H. Ebright, Attorney General Hugh S. Jenkins, and Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel—a formidable array of ballot-bagging names.

As of today, Lausche is considered a favorite for re-election by most observers, although it is too early for definite predictions. The raising of any statewide issue by former Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert, who opposes him, might rouse the average voter from his current apathy and easily change the entire picture.

Other Republicans Favored.

Republicans, however, generally are picked for other offices, although a close race is expected for the post of lieutenant governor. The Democratic incumbent, George D. Nye of Waverly, faces the challenge of former Lt. Gov. Paul M. Herbert of Columbus.

This particular race was slated to be close because a winning candidate for governor usually carries into office with him the lieutenant governor choice of his party.

Bricker, the 1944 Republican vice-presidential candidate, is expected today to unseat U. S. Sen. James W. Huffman, his one-time law colleague who was named to the senate by Lausche when former Sen. Harold H. Burton was elevated to the U. S. supreme court.

Landslide Unexpected.

The three Republican incumbents seeking re-election—Ebright, Jenkins and Hummel—are expected to succeed in their quests unless Lausche piles up a landslide victory and carries Democratic candidates into office with him.

In view of a discernible nationwide Republican trend, however, such a landslide does not appear to be in the cards.

Republicans also are expected to maintain or possibly increase their present 17-to-6 margin in Ohio's congressional delegation, and are certain to retain control of the Ohio general assembly.

Loses Labor Support.

The governor won election by 112,000 in 1944 despite the fact the Republican presidential ticket of Thomas E. Dewey and Bricker carried the state by a small margin. Although Lausche has lost some of his labor support, he is believed to have offset this with increased strength among the independent voter who frequently swings Ohio elections.

Any such increase, however, must in turn offset the better showing Tom Herbert will make in Cleveland in comparison to the 1944 Republican gubernatorial candidate, James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati. Both Herbert and Lausche hail from Cleveland. Hence the governor may not pile up the 2-to-1 majority there he did in 1944—although his backers still predict he will do so.

Grays Win First Richland County Baseball Tournament

Hal Clawson

Richland county's first annual semi-pro baseball tournament is over and in everyone's book—it was a great success.

Credit for the planning and staging of this tourney goes to one of Mansfield's most enthusiastic baseball men — Ralph Hardy.

It's no easy task to run a tournament of any kind and baseball is no exception. Hours of hard work must be put on such an event and Ralph did just that.

A man who would rather talk baseball than eat, Hardy first sent out letters to the managers of the six county nines to get their reaction on the proposed tourney.

A meeting was called and plans for holding the tourney were drawn up.

Then came the job of sending out letters to get the eligibility lists of the teams along with other info desired about the teams.

Actual running of the games went off smooth and Ralph spent most of his time chasing down foul balls.

It was also Hardy who pushed the sandlot baseball program here early this summer, giving hundreds of kids a chance to play baseball every day.

So, with the baseball season tucked away locally, this department would like to toss a bouquet to Ralph Hardy for a fine job in connection with the county's first annual tournament.

NEW YORK—(INS)—The Sugar Ray Robinson-Marty Servo welterweight championship fight scheduled for Friday night in Madison Square Garden today was unofficially but definitely postponed.

Servo suffered a nose injury while sparring Thursday which was aggravated by a collision with a punching bag in a workout yesterday.

Servo's manager Al Weill said Servo would not fight Friday but hoped that he would be able to meet Robinson later this year for the championship.

National League Race Developing Into Battle Of Bullpens—Cards 2½ Games In Front

By JACK HAND
(AP Sports Writer)

National league fans long may remember the 1946 pennant race as the "battle of the bullpens" with Manager Eddie Dyer of St. Louis uncovering Al Brazle as his latest relief ace to match Leo Durocher's crew of firemen.

The lean lefthander's greatest day of the season came yesterday when he received credit for both ends of a double win over Cincinnati, 6-4 and 8-7, although he, too, needed help from the bullpen in the late stages of the second game.

The twin victories re-established the Cards' lead at 2½ games because Brooklyn, after winning the opener from the Phillies, 5-2, ran afoul of Oscar Judd's left arm and dropped the 3-2 finale.

Walker Cooper was the big noise for the New York Giants in their eight-run seventh inning that earned an 8-3 edge and an even break with Boston, which had won the opener 6-2. Cooper spoiled Brother Mort's shutout bid in the first tilt with a two-run double. It was the first time he had appeared against his brother since they left St. Louis.

Pittsburgh and Chicago traded decisions, the Pirates grabbing a 4-1 opener for rookie Edson Bahr. The veteran Russ Bauers, a former Pirate, earned his first victory of the season on a 7-3 job for the Cubs in the second.

* * *

New York's largest crowd of the season, 73,551 paid, watched Boston sweep both games from the New York Yankees, 5-2 and 3-1, moving the Sox toward a mathematical flag clinching with a 15½ game lead.

Boba Newsom thoroughly enjoyed himself on the holiday afternoon by trimming his old Philadelphia mates for a Washington 5-2 win. Jess Flores, one of the better hurlers in the league for the past month, earned his fifth straight victory, 7-1, for an even break.

Hank Greenberg's two-run home run provided the scoring punch for Detroit's 2-1 edge over Chicago in the first half of a double. Frank Papish outpitched Al Benton to square matters, 6-2.

St. Louis thumped Cleveland, 9-2, on an eight-run spurt in the eighth inning of the opener and the teams played 13 innings to a 2-2 deadlock before darkness forced the second game to be called. It will be re-played as part of a doubleheader today.

Dick Tappan Sets New Course Mark at Charles Mill Lake

Dick 'Timber' Tappan set a new course record at Charles Mill lake yesterday afternoon in winning his second straight victory in the Mohican Sailing club Y-Flyer two-lap race Sunday afternoon.

Tappan covered the two-lap run in 33 minutes, 30 seconds, to post the new standard. Glen Macy was second with Milt Stenzil, Mt. Vernon, third.

Commodore Gus Grotegut led the Super-Sunrays around the course with Bob Batson, second, and Egon Loeckel, third.

High-winds kept the eight-foot Prams off the course Sunday.

Mrs. Jack Gilbert won the annual Labor day trophy race in her Pram. Ed Macy's Pram took second honors while Walter Nixon's Interlake class racer was third. Glen Macy came in fourth and Grotegut, fifth. The Labor day race was run under a time handicap based on weekly averages.

Moose Takes Another Title

Mansfield Moose softballers took their second 1946 league championship yesterday afternoon by blanking the Carey Moose aggregation, 6 to0, on the Carey field.

The Mansfield nine won the city Club league title last week and yesterday's victory clinched the Moose Traveling league championship.

Wayne Hough's classy three-hit mound effort was enough to win as his mates poled eight blows. Hough struck out nine and walked only one.

Homerville Wins At New London

NEW LONDON — Homerville gained first place in the Labor day baseball tournament here by defeating New London, 4 to 3, in 14 innings.

In the morning game, Homerville gained the right to enter the semi-finals by defeating Grafton, 8-2. In the first afternoon game, New London took an easy 6-1 win over Greenwich and faced the Homerville team in the finals.

New London trailed 3-1 until the eighth when two runs knotted the score.

From then until the last of the 14th, the score remained tied. Carl Owen and Bud Grissinger bunched two hits, which combined with an infield error, chased in the winning run.

ROBSON CAREER COMES TO END AT ATLANTA

ATLANTA, Ga.—(INS)—The daring, spectacular career that brought fame to George Robson as America's auto racing king was ended today by his death.

The 37-year-old Robson, who won the 500-mile Indianapolis Speedway classic this year, was killed in a crash yesterday during the running of a 100-mile national championship dirt track race at Atlanta's Lakewood oval.

Barnes, G-R Play In Title Clash

Tonight's game between Barnes and Gorman-Rupp at Prospect park may bring the curtain down on the Industrial league softball play for the year—or again it may not.

A win for the Barnes nine will give them the title while a defeat would put them in a deadlock with G-R for the crown and playoff would be necessary.

Stub Winebrenner is slated to hurl for the Barnes nine while Aid Geiger will likely get the call for the Gormans. The game will start promptly at 6 o'clock.

DAVIS CUP TEAM

NEW YORK — (AP) — Frank Parker, Jack Kramer, Gardnar Mulloy and Billy Talbert, America's four top-seeded tennis players, today were named to the United States Davis Cup team which meets Sweden in the interzone finals at Forest Hills, Sept. 13-15.

Defeat Shiloh Handily In Final Encounter

Mansfield Grays defeated the Shiloh Lions and the Mansfield American Legion Post 72 baseballers yesterday afternoon to win the championship in the first annual Richland county diamond tournament before 2,500 fans at Liberty park.

The Grays knocked off the Legion aggregation in the semi-finals, 5-1, behind the steady six-hit mound work of Russell Hoff and scored almost at will to swamp the Shiloh nine in the championship encounter, 9 to 2.

Dean Hahn deserted his first base post to take over the mound chores in the finals and turned in a sweet bit of hurling. He scattered seven blows and struck out 16 Lions. Hahn walked only two.

Mansfield piled on Dawson and Bushey for 12 safeties including two doubles and a single by Al Baki, right-fielder. The Grays picked up two runs in the second and clinched the title with a three-run burst in the fifth.

Shiloh scored single tallies in the third and ninth heats.

The Grays poled 14 hits off two Legion pitchers in the semi-final clash. Bob Bogantz led the swat parade with a double and two singles while Foster Burggraff contributed a home run.

Hoff struck out 10 Post 72 batsmen and did not issue a free ticket to first.

Opening games of the two-day tournament were played Sunday with the Grays defeating the Lucas Merchants, 16 to 9; Shiloh edging the Mansfield Tigers, 4 to 0, and Post 72 beating Skeeter's Sohio Service Station, 13 to 10.

SHELBY—With some 500 fans in the stands, the Shelby Whippets played an intra-squad game Monday night under the floodlights on the W. W. Skiles athletic field.

STOCK LEADERS TUMBLE; MANY OFF 1-12 POINTS

Brokers Unable to Account For Relapse; Ticker Behind Sales.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Heavy selling descended on the stock market today and knocked leaders over 1 to 12 points, many hitting new lows for the past year.

Brokers found no particular spot news to account for the relapse and most blamed liquidation on a combination of circumstances, including the thought that the list, as in the past three months, may be anticipating a peak in the business upturn in the near future.

Dealings, moderately active at the start, speeded up in the second hour and, for an interval, the ticker tape lagged behind actual floor transactions. By midday few recoveries were in sight.

Prominent on the tumble were Chrysler, General Motors, Bethlehem, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Electric Power & Light, Anaconda, Du Pont, Johns-Manville, Standard Oil (NJ), Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific and Baltimore & Ohio.

Soviet Backed Party Winner

BERLIN—(INS)—Latest tabulations of the first postwar election in Saxony in the Russian zone today gave the Soviet-sponsored Socialist Unity party more votes than the two opposition parties combined.

The composite Socialist and Communist parties had 1,600,000. The Liberal Democratic party had 671,000 and the Christian Democratic party 655,000.

The fact that the SUP could not carry the principal Saxon cities, which before Hitler were regarded as strongholds of Socialism, is regarded in Berlin as an indication of healthy opposition against "the Unity party."

DECLARE DIVIDEND

PITTSBURGH—(U.P.)—Directors of Follansbee Steel corporation have declared an initial dividend of 15 cents a share on the capital stock, payable Sept. 30 to stockholders of record Sept. 14, it was announced today.

At the same time the company urged preferred stockholders who have not yet exchanged their certificates for appropriate income debentures and common stock under a recent merger agreement to do so prior to Sept. 13.

VA Office Answers Questions On Changes In Bill of Rights

The Mansfield sub-regional office of the Veterans Administration, in answer to a flood of inquiries from ex-GIs regarding recent changes in the GI Bill of Rights limiting subsistence allowances and revising standards for job training, yesterday issued a report clarifying distinctions in the new law.

VA officials in Mansfield emphasized first, that the revised law applies to veterans already enrolled in school or training under the GI bill as well as future enrollees. The new law does not apply, however, to disabled veterans enrolled under Public Law 16, the Vocational Rehabilitation act.

The much-discussed provision governing subsistence allotments to veterans earning money on the side while attending school and to those earning wages through job or apprentice training, has caused the most confusion.

Under the revised set-up the law states that "in no event shall the rate of such allowance, plus compensation received," in the form of wages or salary, "exceed $175 per month for veterans without dependents or $200 per month for those married or having dependents."

The new legislation does not mean that the ex-GI will not receive further educational benefits of the GI bill because his subsistence allowance is stopped by the limitation.

Thus, a veteran attending school may hold a full time job, make more than $175 or $200 per month in wages and still have his tuition and books paid for by the government, even if he is taking a reduced schedule of classwork.

If a veteran wishes to continue a training course without subsistence allowances, provided he is not in school, he should notify the VA to stop counting the time against his eligibility. He can then take night courses, correspondence courses, or save his eligibility for additional education or training later.

Rites Set for Mrs. Seifley

Funeral services for Mrs. Joseph Zimmerman Seifley, Harding road, who died at her home Saturday following a lingering illness, will be conducted Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. at the Finefrock funeral home by Rev. Martin Wappner in the absence of Rev. Paul H. Saleste. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Seifley is survived by four sons, Ira, Earl, LeRoy and Robert; one daughter, Mrs. Lucille Callahan; three brothers, Emil Zimmerman, John Zimmerman and Edward Zimmerman; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Wentz and Mrs. Ida Cook; six grandchildren.

Friends may call at the funeral home until time of services.

AGAINST PAYROLL CUT

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—Sen. James M. Mead (D.-N.Y.) today was on record as opposing recent demands that 2,000,000 persons be lopped off the federal payroll. Mead said that "government must not be wrecked by wholesale, ill-advised reduction dictated by political expediency. Reductions must be made in an orderly manner. To do otherwise is to gamble recklessly with the security of the nation."

Runaway Admits Setting 11 Fires

HOLLYWOOD — (U.P.) — Joan Falk, 23, runaway daughter of a New York attorney, today confessed setting 11 fires in two days because she "wanted to embarrass my parents."

Held on an arson charge, the attractive young woman said she left home because she didn't like her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Falk.

She arrived here three days ago and immediately began calling the Hollywood fire department to say she was about to start a fire. Her attempts for the most part were amateurish, firemen said.

After confessing, she told police she had been placed in several institutions by her parents because of her habit of running away from home.

24 OHIOANS DIE AS 426 KILLED OVER HOLIDAY

Traffic Mishaps Fatal to 322 Persons; 77 Drown.

California Leads.

California led the states in deaths, with a total of 37, all but eight of them traffic fatalities.

Ohio's 24 was next, followed by Michigan, New York and Texas, each with 20. Pennsylvania had 19.

In at least one state, however, the Labor day week-end was the safest of the summer.

Indiana, with only four traffic deaths, credited the thousands of motorists crowding the roads with extra driving precautions to establish the record.

In Indiana, one person was drowned when an automobile overturned in a creek. Two were killed in a plane crash near La Crosse, Wis. One of the victims was Lawrence Miller, 27, who was celebrating the birth of a daughter on Sunday.

Speed Driver Killed.

A flat-bottomed motor boat capsized in the Illinois river near Grafton, Ill., drowning three members of a holiday boating party. Three persons were killed in a rail-crossing accident at Prairie du Chien, Wis.

George Robson, winner of the 1946 Indianapolis Speedway 500-mile race, was one of two drivers killed in a collision during a 100-mile dirt track race at Lakewood park, near Atlanta, Ga. George Barringer was the second driver killed in the four-car crash.

Rescue parties searched the fog-bound, jagged British Columbia coast near Prince Rupert, B. C., for a big flying boat lost since Saturday with six persons aboard, including a mother and a sick baby.

At Estes Park, Colo., a vacationing youth was killed when he fell nearly 800 feet during a mountain climbing trip. The victim was Charles Grant, 19, who fell while climbing the 14,000-foot Long's peak.

Probe Report Of Assault

Sheriff's deputies were continuing an investigation today of an attempted burglary of the Sky Club restaurant at the airport and a reported assault on a 55-year-old night watchman in the kitchen of the establishment at 1 a. m. today.

Sheriff Frank E. Robinson said James Graw, the watchman, reported that he had been struck down from behind by a man who attacked him while Graw was making his rounds early today. Graw told officers that he shot at the assailant as the man escaped through an outside door, bolted from the inside.

The sheriff said that an early investigation of the incident failed to prove whether Graw had been struck by the burglar.

Investigation, Robinson said, also pointed to the possibility that the burglar may have obtained entrance to the restaurant through a small garbage door, found unbolted from the inside, in a room off the kitchen. Robinson said the door was about four feet square.

CITY'S SCHOOLS OPEN TOMORROW

More Than 6,000 Ready To Go Back to Classes as New Term Begins.

City schools will go back to their pre-war operating schedules tomorrow. Class hours for elementary schools will be held from 8:30 a. m. to 11:45 a. m. and from 1 p. m. to 3:30 p. m. Junior high schools will hold classes from 8:15 a. m. to 11:25 a. m. and from 12:25 p. m. to 3:30 p. m. High school will run from 8:30 a. m. to 3 p. m. with three lunch periods of a half-hour each, the first starting at 11:30 a. m.

During the war, city public schools started a half hour earlier.

Madison high school counted 335 pupils enrolled today as the first day of school got under way, an increase of one over last year. Total enrollment in the county schools will not be available until tomorrow, the county superintendent's office reported.

* * *

Plenty of Buses.

The superintendent said that county rural schools are "in better shape" to provide transportation for the children than many other Ohio counties. Only shortage of transportation in the county was reported in Mifflin township where a new school bus chassis and body have arrived but hasn't been assembled. Robinson said that another bus was obtained for temporary use.

St. Mary's parochial school in Shelby will convene Wednesday, following 8 a. m. mass.

Sister Cora will replace Sister Alban in the first and second grade instruction, it was reported. Sister Alban has been transferred to the Guardian Angel Home in Joliet, Ill.

'Name' Bands Silently Aid Petrillo Fight

NEW YORK—(INS)—Music Czar James C. Petrillo today vowed a finish fight against 31 major New York hotels which have refused to come to terms with Local 802 of the American Federation of Musicians.

The fiery labor chieftain said he would "stop at nothing within the law" to enforce the union's demands and ordered "name" bands in leading hotel chains to go out on strike in support of the 3,000 New York musicians.

Such famous band leaders as Vincent Lopez at New York's Hotel Taft, Chuck Forster at the Hotel New Yorker, Griff Williams, Mischa Borr and Michael Zarin at the Waldorf-Astoria, were ordered to lay down their instruments as were Clyde McCoy and Ted Straeter who were fulfilling a contract at Chicago's giant Stevens hotel and the Palmer House.

Meanwhile, eight of New York's smaller hotels came to terms. As a result they were free to continue furnishing music. The others were being picketed.

Holidays End for More Than 300

AN INCOMPLETE tabulation of fatalities attributable to the three-day observance of Labor day places the total above three hundred—which approximates the figure forecast by safety organizations that had been active in efforts to induce greater care in avoiding accidents.

Ohio's total of accidental deaths during the long Labor day week-end reached 19, with the worst of the state tragedies occurring in Huron where careless driving resulted in the death of two men and their wives when their car was driven onto a railroad track—despite flashing lights—and struck by a fast-moving passenger train.

California led in the total of deaths from accidents, with all but eight of 35 fatalities caused by traffic crashes.

Jammed highways caused innumerable minor accidents, some of which were expected to cause later deaths or lifetime crippling, and, all in all, it was a typical exhibition of American disregard for life and safety in the mad rush for entertainment, recreation and "fun."

Records of holiday fatalities which have been carefully kept for many years provide a fairly accurate index of what can be expected on each of these occasions—it being merely a matter of checking up afterward on the names and addresses of victims.

Whether such observance of holidays is worth the cost in lives and suffering is a matter for thoughtful consideration by those who are still alive.

Get 'Schooling' While You Can

SO YOU are going back to school? Well, son, the last thing you probably want to be bothered with is a lot of advice. That was always the way it was with us, at least. And the world doesn't change very much.

Airplanes are now traveling 500 miles an hour. In days when your father went to school, sixty miles an hour was considered quite a clip. And it wasn't long before that, that people gasped when the first automobile made 15 miles an hour. But it takes a driver to operate any machine—even if it's by radio control. The driver still has to use his hands and eyes and his brain. Skill and judgment were important in father's day; they are important now. A knowledge of mathematics comes in pretty handy for a driver. So does a knowledge of mechanics—and even a bit of understanding of human nature!

School helps a boy or girl to acquire these things.

In your father's day, as now, it was necessary for people to get along with each other socially and in the business world. School was a fine training ground for that. It still is.

Schools don't just happen. It takes planning and money to get the buildings. It takes work and study to set up the curriculum and to obtain the teachers. Even "outside" activities must be thought out beforehand.

At school everyone is trying to help you. You will find people willing to do that all through life. It is fine to cultivate gracious acceptance of this aid, right along with learning to think for yourself.

School days should be happy days—but that's up to you!

Make Sure Where the Money Goes

ONE PHASE of nationally conducted fund-raising campaigns for various purposes, is the revelation, in some instances, that individual promoters take a considerable "cut" of the proceeds for their own work as directors or canvassers.

It is usually assumed by contributors that those at the head of such relief, charitable or humanitarian activities are sufficiently interested to not only supervise the organization's work but to make personal contributions thereto, instead of drawing from contributed funds for their own livelihood or enrichment.

This is a matter, also, that may well be subject to investigation in connection with local fund-raising campaigns, so assurance may be given that all money contributed will be expended for the actual purposes intended, rather than that a part of it go to canvassers whose interest extends only to what they can get out of it.

It is reasonably expected that canvassers in a fund-raising campaign are those most greatly interested in carrying through such a project and that they themselves are contributors of money as well as time.

Time-Killing Telephone Calls

SO GREAT a nuisance has the modern "convenience" of the telephone become that it seriously interferes with many people's efficiency. A busy Chicago psychologist has attempted to solve such interruptions by clipping to all mail from her office a suggestion that any who need to phone her do so between 4 and 5 p. m. She reports that many people now write instead of telephoning her, that her own work is more effective and that her clients benefit.

Many other people, including some busy housewives, will wish they could follow some such plan, instead of having their time intruded upon by phone calls from persons who have nothing else to do. This would be somewhat reminiscent of the "at home Thursday afternoons" cards that Victorian ladies issued to their friends, who then could call and be sure that their arrival would be convenient and welcome.

"Married, age 36, active in community affairs, earns $50 a week, and has been employed by his firm more than five years"—that is a description of "the average embezzler"—which indicates why he is so difficult to recognize before his defalcations are detected.

Noting a trend toward the medicinal in cigaret advertising, Harry Wade notes that this has "fortunately never extended to injecting the sunshine vitamin into gin."

The Calcutta rioting between Hindus and Moslems raises the question of what would happen if the British pulled out and left the two to themselves.

AFTERMATH OF THE THREE-DAY HOLIDAY

Sounder Government Financing Would Lighten Boom Reaction

By RAYMOND MOLEY

IF, as is reported, President Truman hopes to be not another Roosevelt, but a new Coolidge, he will have to do more than talk and act like a crossroad philosopher. He will have to grasp firmly that when the government economizes and pays its debt, public confidence grows, production increases, and a strong tide sets in against inflation.

It is true that the Coolidge of 1927 and 1928 neglected many danger signals and failed to build protections against the crash of 1929. But the Coolidge of 1923 to 1927 was an economic statesman.

Instead of courageously throwing government finances into a course which promises resistance to inflation, Mr. Truman for nearly a year has temporized.

From time to time he has dulled the confidence his budget statements might have inspired by recommending or hinting at new expenditures. As late as the first of August, we heard of new billions of spending to cut into the big tax return which now seems assured.

We are in a period of national economic activity the size of which this country has never before experienced. Americans hate to think of this as a boom. For a boom, historically considered, is too intimately related to a subsequent bust. But if this isn't a boom, it is something greater than what used to be called a boom.

Our employment is several million greater than in 1929, when it ran close to 49 million. Without counting the armed forces, we have passed the 57-million mark. The national income falls short of the Wallace dream, but it is very high.

It is at about $160 billion—almost double that of 1929. Taxes will yield $40 billion dollars, which is nearly equal to the whole national income in the low years of 1932. Taxes will equal half the dollar amount of the whole national income in 1929.

Sales in retailing are breaking all records. Department store sales indicate a prospective 25-per cent increase over last year.

While our manufacturing plants have overcome the deadlock of strikes, they are still unable to increase retailers' inventories, because the public is buying at so great a rate.

Some optimists point out that there will be 3 million automobiles produced this year and twice that in 1947.

It is hardly necessary to mention the unprecedented crops that nature is providing.

So much for the boom. Can it last?

The bumper crop is already producing lower grain prices. Big surpluses of feed grain are appearing which, by all past experience, will depress prices. And foreign needs and demands for paid food exports are decreasing.

Agriculture is likely to release two million workers this autumn. The supply of new machines is increasing, with a consequent decrease in the need for human hands. We have a surplus of wool, and textiles are catching up with demand. Housing, despite great needs, can provide only a fraction of our total budget of expenditures. Factory reconversion is over the peak. The stock market is hovering in a fairly small area.

On the basis of these facts, most sound observers feel that there will be some recession in 1947. How far this will go, no one will predict. Conservative opinion anticipates no break like 1929 in the foreseeable future. Despite our great spending spree, there are evidences that American savings will remain at a high level.

It still remains to be seen whether the president and the new congress will provide in the next year the kind of government financing which can assure private savers that they have some aid at the top.

For the best aid we could have in avoiding protracted readjustment next year would be in government finance—economy, with debt reduction and the assurance to investors and producers that sometime taxes will be less of a burden on enterprise.

Favors Tri-County Idea.

Editor News-Journal:

I read with interest the letter by W. G. Reed proposing a tri-county sanatorium and suggesting that the county commissioners of Ashland and Crawford counties be contacted with a view of obtaining support from them.

This appears to me to be a very reasonable idea. There is no doubt that the commissioners have received a mandate from the people and there is no doubt but that all the commissioners are in favor of expediting the building of a sanatorium. But these are difficult times to expedite any type of building.

While there is doubt and delay in the sanatorium building plans, advantage could be taken of this and plans could be extended to include Ashland and Crawford counties. There are many reasons, that are sound, why this would be wise.

A large institution can be operated more economically than a small one and it is my understanding that a hundred-bed sanatorium is much more economical than a fifty-bed one.

It is also true that a larger institution can afford the technical assistance that cannot be had by a smaller one.

Farmer's Diary

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

HAZARDS OF THE JOB.

UP ALONG Lake Erie, one summer morning, I heard sirens on the shore and saw two heavy motor boats speed off toward the center of the lake. Men hurried back and forth at the fish house talking rapidly. Two women, middle-aged, dashed from their kitchens to the boathouse, to get the news. An anxious crowd began to gather on the pier.

The shore of lake or ocean is something very new to me. I have often heard those danger sirens about city streets inland, but seldom saw high-powered boats leap upon the dusky surface of the water at their warning.

I waited there by the shore where the mild warm waves played strangely with the changing line of sand, and watched those two boats heave across the high water line far to the north and disappear into the haze beyond.

I listened to the crowd: "A fishing crew of eight capsized in a sudden squall," one said. "Three lost, they say. My brother was on that boat and his wife and four children are still asleep in that small house yonder. I will not wake them—yet."

Two hours later the speedboats hove in sight and later a stretcher was carried to the dock with something on it covered with a sheet. "Three men went down . . . only one was found, so far."

The price of fish, I mused, is more than I realized before this happened.

A railroad runs past our valley, at the end with long strings of laden coal cars moving from southeastern mines to markets in the north. For that fuel thousands of men labor within the earth where dampness, dust and danger of explosions make life expectancy short. When my coal supply for winter is bought and paid for, is not a debt still unpaid in human life and suffering?

Continuing progress in any line is due to those who work for others' comfort and convenience. The farmer has his share of struggle and sacrifice. But it can do no harm to think of the costs involved in other occupations. Sometimes it might make farm work look desirable by comparison.

Hannegan Speaks for Democrats, Tells of Worship for Roosevelt

(Editor's Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, his column will be written by several distinguished guest columnists—today's by Postmaster General Robert E. Hannegan.)

* * *

By ROBERT E. HANNEGAN

WASHINGTON—In his inaugural address of March 4, 1933, the late Franklin D. Roosevelt began his career as president of the United States by telling the people:

"The only thing we have to fear is fear itself."

In his last public address, which he had written to deliver on April 13, 1945, he ended that career by telling the people of America:

"The only limit to our realization of tomorrow will be our doubts of today."

In the first speech he was referring to a crisis in our country. In the last, he was speaking of a crisis in the world.

The war had not yet ended when Roosevelt wrote those words, but victory was in sight. Therefore, when he used the phrase, "our doubts of today," he was not referring to the crisis of World War II.

I knew that then. I know it even better now. I have just returned from a journey to many countries. I have talked with their peoples. I know what Franklin D. Roosevelt was thinking about when he made the observation that the only limit to what we can achieve in the future is our lack of faith in our own times, faith in ourselves.

World Loves Roosevelt.

The deepest impression that was made upon me in this visit to many lands and many peoples was the living memory which those peoples of other countries—all of them—hold in their hearts today of the late president of the United States.

I had often heard about it. People all over the world, people who knew that they themselves would never be big enough or powerful enough to do anything about preventing war, looked to him. Their hopes were in him, and their prayers.

Yes, I had heard that, and I believed it. But until one visits those countries, one cannot realize how deep the feeling is, how universal.

I know now. I know Roosevelt was the power for peace in America reaching out to mobilize the power for peace in all nations and all men. I have seen, at first hand, the tremendous impress which this man made upon all the world.

Those peoples will not give up their faith in Roosevelt and the firm structure of peace for which he laid the foundations. Their faith is greater than our own. They look to us and they see a worthy successor in Roosevelt's job—Harry Truman—carrying on.

But they also see in America a new cynicism, a resurgence of doubt. They hear the voices of political opposition, raised against Harry Truman.

It is not the voice of the majority in America that they hear. It is a minority that has forgotten, or never knew, why we went to war and what we have to do to save our children from going to war.

It is a political minority, a cynical minority, attempting to discredit Roosevelt and all he stood for, in the hope of defeating the policies that he initiated and that Truman faithfully carries on.

Watched A-Bomb.

Five thousand miles from the shores of my native land, but only 20 hours by plane from San Francisco, I saw the fourth atomic bomb exploded by man.

Only one thought crowded the minds of everyone who witnessed the incredible force of this new power as the cloud mushroomed up to the skies, carrying its white plume of death—"Man can never have another war!"

The peoples of the world, convinced of the horror which man can now release upon his brother, are piteously prayerful that there will never be another war. They had faith that Franklin Roosevelt would guide them on the path to peace. They have faith today that Harry Truman, with the great leadership at his command, will never permit the atomic bomb to be used as a force for evil.

It is almost impossible for one who has visited 22 countries, covering such a wide area, and noting so much tragedy on every hand, to transmit the strong hopes and aspirations which the peoples of the world have placed in our hands.

From Kwajalein to Karachi, from Cairo to Copenhagen, I found the people interested in a union for humanity, rather than in an alliance for greed or profit, or in a real-estate cartel to bring poverty to the masses and profit to the international buccaneers.

The craving for peace has no spiritual boundaries—no racial shores—no moral longitude or latitude.

Roosevelt faced that challenge—and met it. The world hopes Truman accepts it as a compulsion.

People Want Progress.

The peoples of other nations know what has happened in their own countries. They know you cannot have a government that will go back to the 1920's in its domestic policies and forward to lasting peace in its foreign policies. And they hear a minority demand in America to go back to 1920.

These people of the world hear the demand from that "Me-First!" minority to strike out the gains which the people of America have made under Roosevelt. They hear the cry to put labor back where it was a quarter of a century ago. They hear the gripings by that minority for a return to laissez faire, for profits-before-people, for the jungle code of the 1920's. They hear the rumblings of reaction at home, and they wonder whether these counsels of despair foreshadow a trend toward reaction abroad.

And yet, they seem to know that in America, behind the exaggerated clamor of these few, there is the will for peace—for progress—in the hearts of the many. And these peoples of the world know we are a democracy and that here the will of the many must prevail.

They will not give up their faith. Let us not give up ours.

America Is "Relaxing"—Maybe Too Much.

CATAUMET, Mass.—In spite of the latest crisis, blazoned in black headlines in the newspapers and proclaimed on the radio regularly on the half hour, America is relaxing in this first summer of the peace. Relaxing, you might say, with a vengeance.

There is a kind of urgency about it. If this is to be only a brief interlude of peace—and that gloomy foreboding sometimes bears down heavily—then we are determined to squeeze the last drop of goodness from it.

The winding roads, here on Cape Cod, are lined with cars. The public beaches are crowded. The "no vacancies" sign hangs out, as in every other resort area throughout the country. To care for those who were disappointed during the summer, many hotels will remain open through September and October.

But for those who seek it, there is peace and quiet. We look out through the pines to the stretch of sand and the blue water of our small arm of the bay. Our sailboat heads out toward the channel, moving stiffly in the swift breeze. This peace may be deceptive, but if it is, we cannot help for a time welcoming the deception.

"Earth could be fair." That is the phrase which recurs again and again. Sitting on the shore of this playground that projects out into the Atlantic, you think of the long sweep of the American earth. The fir-bordered lakes of Wisconsin and Minnesota. The Rockies and the great parks where thousands of tourists get at least a glimpse of splendor. Then, across the Divide to the Pacific slope and all its wonders. Here are Americans by the million, playing, relaxing.

It seems so far from cauldrons of Europe, where hate and jealousy bubble more fiercely than ever. Although we've learned painfully that it is just next door, Trieste seems a million miles from Cape Cod.

What is it that has made the difference? Is it our space and our natural wealth? Is it the fact that we could make more or less a clean start, breaking with the old nationalist rivalries? Is it, as our isolationists like to tell us, merely the fact of our physical isolation?

"Earth could be fair." I think back to a few days spent last year in Jugoslavia. Again and again, people came up to me on the street and in restaurants, looking around cautiously first, then speaking in an undertone to ask if there wasn't some way they could come to America. For the old, it was a last desperate prayer. For the young, it was a distant gleam of hope; they wanted to know if they couldn't join our army and thereby qualify themselves for citizenship.

This was in the Jugoslavia of swaggering Marshal Tito. It was in the Jugoslavia where even then a Pan-Slavic imperialism was being fanned by an unceasing propaganda bellows. But if you tried to write about Pan-Slavism, the censor blue-penciled it. Tito was not yet ready to show his hand.

I don't think most of the unhappy people in Jugoslavia were in the least interested in Pan-Slavism. They wanted peace and a little more to eat. They wanted to be free of fear for a time. But it is wonderful what the propaganda bellows can do with a people who are hungry, confused, frustrated.

An incident out of that brief visit comes back. One of Tito's young hotheads, wife of a cabinet minister, suddenly turned to me and said: "Don't you love your country?" To an American that seemed a foolish question. Of course we love our country, I told her. "Why don't you talk about it, then?" she demanded.

Well, perhaps we do take our country too much for granted. It has always been here, rich and proud and beautiful—if at times a little foolish and confused. Nevertheless, that seems infinitely preferable to the disease of nationalism; the terrible pathology of hate that is once again being fanned into flame.

If you look up quickly, you can see those flames—there, just across the line of the dunes. They intrude on the peaceful landscape even in this summer when America would like to look the other way.

"Is Third World War Inevitable?"—No!

RELMAN MORIN, Associated Press chief of bureau in Paris and a reporter of vast experience, tells us that "the peace conference appears now to be headed for failure and people in Paris, both foreigners and French, both those who know and those who only feel, are more profoundly depressed today than at any time since the last gun was fired in Europe."

"They feel World War III already is in sight," continues Morin. "They feel it may not come this year or next year but there is little doubt any longer among people in Paris that it will come. There no longer is any doubt here about the totally irreconcilable policies of Russia and the bloc of Slavic nations which stand with her on the one hand and those of the West on the other."

Now, of course, Morin isn't predicting war. He is just doing a job of objective reporting about what Paris feels.

He leaves it to us to fit this information in with our own observations. For if we are awake these parlous days (and heaven help us if we are not) we will have been studying this crisis which represents the greatest problem with which the world is faced.

Are we headed for war? Does the fact that the policies of Russia on the one hand and the Western Allies on the other are indeed irreconcilable mean that the issue must be settled on the battlefield?

Let's deal with this bluntly. As I see it the answer depends on whether Russia has about reached the limit of her ambitions in the way of expanding her zones of influence, or whether she intends to keep on going.

If Moscow is about satisfied—and Marshal Stalin is reported to have said recently that it didn't have much more to ask for—then it strikes me that war is not inevitable.

But if the Soviet has any notion of trying to intrude on the prerogatives of the Western nations, or of thrusting unwanted Communism onto them, then war certainly is inevitable.

From the Western viewpoint Russia thus far hasn't shown much of the spirit or Sir Walter Raleigh in spreading its cloak to save My Lady Peace from muddying her feet. Probably Moscow feels the same about the west.

However that may be, post-war history clearly records that the Soviet Union has been absolutely inflexible in its drive to enlarge and sovietize its zone of influence. The program has been carried out by unilateral action—all take and no give. In this way Moscow has extended its domination westward into central Europe, and has overrun most of the Balkans. And it also is reaching in Asia.

This expansion now has arrived at a particularly explosive stage. Russia is aiming at control of the Dardanelles Straits—strategically one of the most important waterways in the world. It is of vital interest not only to Turkey, which now controls it, but to Britain, America and other western countries. Moscow also is trying to oust John Bull from guardianship of Greece—last remaining foothold which any Western power has in the Balkans.

Obviously this is a dangerous moment. It's one of those times when smart folk tread lightly—distinctly not a time for hobnailed military boots.

I don't believe Russia or any other nation wants war—in any event not at this juncture. The Soviet Union, for one, badly needs a long period of years for rehabilitation from the last war.

So the danger doesn't lie in anybody's desire for further conflict. It rests in rash gambling to achieve over-ambitious projects.

KIN OF VETS GET SOCIAL SECURITY AID

New Amendments to Original Act Extend Coverage of Insurance Protection.

Insurance protection under social security has been extended to the families of World War II veterans under recent amendments to the social security act, Edward R. Blonston, manager of the Mansfield social security office, said today.

Under the original act, World War II veterans were unable to build up or maintain social security rights during the time they spent in service as no social security credit was given.

The new legislation provides generally that full social security rights be given to the survivors of World War II veterans who die within three years of discharge—provided the discharge is other than dishonorable. As explained by Mr. Blonston these are the significant points in the amendment:

1. The new legislation applies only to the surviving family of a veteran who dies within three years after discharge. It does not (a) change the social security status of a veteran who dies, or died, in the service or (b) change the status of a veteran who survives more than three years after discharge.

2. The amendments provide for full social security benefits even though the veteran had never held a job at all under social security benefits.

3. The effect of this legislation is retroactive to cover veterans' deaths which occurred before its passage.

4. The surviving members of a veteran's family who should apply for insurance benefits are the widow, children, or parents, in that order.

The new provisions of the Social Security act do not apply to dependents of veterans who are qualified to receive compensation or pensions from the Veterans' Administration. This qualification does not include national service life insurance.

Survivors of veterans who died after their discharge are urged by Mr. Blonston to get in touch promptly with the Mansfield social security office.

3RD WORLD WAR WARNINGS MADE

United Front Against Reds Is Asked of Labor Day Crowds in State.

(By Associated Press)

Forebodings of a third World War were presented yesterday to Labor Day audiences by two speakers on opposite sides of the political fence.

"Unless America presents a united front against Russia, without appeasement we are headed for a third World War," John W. Bricker, former Republican governor of Ohio, told 6,000 persons at Serpent Mound, O.

"America must maintain her integrity and security, in the face of strong Russian opposition, if we are to avoid another Pearl Harbor," declared James W. Huffman, Columbus Democrat and a candidate for return to the senate seat he now holds, said from the same platform.

Ohio labor was told it ought to put the public's general welfare first and "stop centering all its efforts on getting higher wages and shorter hours" in a speech by Gov. M. O. Sharpe of South Dakota at Cedarville.

"Devote some effort toward practicable education along the lines of industry, frugality, self reliance and self support, as well as cultural, mechanical, professional and similar training of methodical education," the South Dakota Republican urged in a celebration at the birthplace of the man who founded Labor Day.

A record throng of 4,000 persons turned out at the Perry county veterans' homecoming and heard Ohio's Gov. Frank J. Lausche offer a four-point code of conduct, in which he asked Ohioans not to be indolent, but to keep in mind their Creator, to obey law and order and to remember the great gift of this country's future.

In Cleveland, Philip Hannah, assistant U. S. Secretary of Labor, declared at a Federation of Labor picnic that "the American workingman is going to meet the challenge of tomorrow with a respectable and patriotic American labor movement."

Number of U. S. 'Billionaires' Still Is Same

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— The number of American "billionaire" business enterprises, which expanded steadily during the war years, has remained unchanged since the end of World War II, a study by United Press disclosed today.

Although the number remained unchanged from a year ago at 43, there were several changes in the roster of financial, commercial and industrial giants with resources of $1,000,000,000 or more.

Bethlehem Steel corporation, Ford Motor company and First National Bank of New York became peacetime casualties when their total assets dropped below the billion-dollar mark.

New additions to the select circle of business "billionaires" were Mutual Benefit Life Insurance company, Penn Mutual Life Insurance company and Northwest Bancorporation.

Common Sense Can BEAT Inflation

Today, more than ever, each of us has to do his part to beat inflation...consumers, producers, management and labor, and Government.

WHAT WE AS INDIVIDUALS CAN DO

During the war the people of this country, in overwhelming majority, knew it was good common sense to set aside part of their big wartime earnings for the future. We bought War Bonds by the tens of billions. We purchased additional life insurance. We put money in savings accounts. We paid off debts.

Many predicted that after the war the people would go on a spending spree. A few have, but most have used good common sense in handling their money.

Today it is more important than ever that we continue to use our money wisely—refrain from bidding up prices . . . buy only what is needed until goods are plentiful again . . . hold on to War Bonds . . . continue to put money aside for the family's future in government securities, life insurance, and savings accounts.

WHAT MANAGEMENT AND LABOR CAN DO

Both management and labor need to put their best efforts into the job of bringing about increased production. Americans are well aware that this country has the greatest capacity to produce goods of any nation in the world. We can produce far more in the future than we ever did before the war. Things now scarce will then become plentiful. When things are plentiful they are reasonably priced.

The productive genius, common sense and cooperation of the people are not by themselves enough to defeat inflation. These anti-inflationary efforts of the people must be backed up and encouraged by additional positive, practical steps on the part of those in authority in Government.

WHAT GOVERNMENT CAN DO

The life insurance companies strongly urge their policyholders, and the public generally, to encourage and support the following definite action by Government:

1. Balance the budget and continue debt reduction. Cut expenditures to less than income. Postpone projects that are not strictly essential in this critical period.
2. Take further monetary and fiscal action not only to keep the excess supply of money from expanding further but also to reduce it to a level more consistent with peacetime needs. The volume of money and credit now outstanding is a major factor in our inflationary problem.
3. Provide adequate incentives to individuals and investors, other than commercial banks, to use their savings and investment funds for the purchase of government securities.

• • •

The 71 million life insurance policyholders and their 27 million families have a stake in this country of ours. They want to see it financially sound because they have one common purpose—to provide financial security for themselves and families through their own sacrifice, saving and effort.

No thinking man or woman in this country wants inflation. Through the exercise of good common sense, by the people, by management and labor, and by the Government, the forces of inflation will be checked.

If These Were Your Children

If these were your children, you'd be quite concerned if you knew their lives were in danger—just in going to and from school. The facts are that there is a very real danger for EVERY school child, including yours. That danger is the careless driver. The National Safety Council reports that during the first six months of this year 87 persons were killed every day in the United States as a result of automobile accidents. Also, more than 3000 were injured each day, many permanently. Some accidents were caused by faulty automobile equipment, such as poor brakes, but most were caused by carelessness and could have been prevented, the Council states.

With the opening of school, drive extra carefully, especially in school areas and at those hours when children are going to and from school. Make certain all parts of your car are in safe operating order, and remember, courtesy prevents accidents. Drive safely, we love our children.
